By monitoring my MBA classes, I gained valuable knowledge about differences in business culture. I improved my English communication skills through daily conversations with students and professors. We supported class surveys to help manage course quality and measure student satisfaction.

HSBC

Intern - Product Control

maio de 2015 - novembro de 2015 (7 meses)

São Paulo e Região, Brasil

Job description:

- Search and record exchange rates of the International Monetary Fund's basket of currencies

- Search and record of Brazilian stock market indexes and indicators
- Attention to data details and accurate input
- Integration of financial information of bank positions in international debt systems
- Automated Excel sheets execution using macros
- Supported the process of statistical analysis

<Results>

The department I worked as an intern worked after business hours by supporting the bank's financial operations, and at the end of the month, I had overtime to complete the entire process. I was just an intern, but I also worked overtime to help the team to the end. Unfortunately, at the end of the year, the banking business was sold to a Brazilian bank and I retired because my ambition to work in an international environment was not guaranteed.

ONCLICK
